SANE JULY 4TH FOR GETTYSBURG

State Laws will be strictly Enforced here and Town People will be Protected. No Sales Allowed before July First.

Gettysburg is to have a July Fourth which will be safe and sane as it can be made under state laws and the proclamation of Burgess Holtzworth, Mr. Holtzworth says.

"In conformity with the state law no fire crackers more than six inches in length may be sold in the town and every effort will be put forth to see that those dealing in day and night fireworks comply with the requirements of the state laws governing their sale.

"Dealers are requested to sell no material for Fourth of July celebration until Saturday, July first, and the police will have instructions to prevent any display or any shooting of fire crackers or blank cartridges before or after Tuesday the Fourth.

"The citizens of town are requested to use every precaution to protect persons and property."

Burgess Holtzworth issues his annual statement in advance so that dealers as well as others may have ample warning that the town is to have a sane celebration which shall not be continued for several days before and after Independence Day.

WHEAT CROP NOW SHORT

Secretary Critchfield, of the Department of Agriculture, states that the wheat outlook in Pennsylvania is not nearly as favorable as it was a month since. At that time the prospect was most encouraging. Since then various elements have combined to make the wheat harvest far less than it was estimated but a short time since.

The Hessian fly has been working havoc in several localities; then, too, there have been hail storms that have done serious damage to the wheat in many places. The rains of the last fortnight have come at a most inopportune time for the wheat. When it should have had dry, sunny weather, it has been drenched with showers. Therefore there is no doubt that the wheat in this state will fall considerably short of the estimated amount as given a month or so ago.

Reports are being received from all over the state and all agree in saying that while the crop will not be a bad one by any means, yet it will not be as large as it promised a month ago, when farmers had every reason to believe that the state was about to grow a record crop. The condition of the wheat may improve, but that will depend entirely on the weather. Farmers will begin to cut in a very short time, and if the hot weather keeps up they will be at work in the harvest field on July 4

AMOS HOWARD PETERS

Amos H. Peters, died Friday noon, June 23, at his home one mile north of Biglerville along the Newville road, aged 65 years.

Mr. Peters, complained of feeling ill after dinner and went to bed. Later he arose and fell back on the bed. A physician was summoned but before medical assistance arrived Mr. Peters had expired.

He leaves a wife and one son, Curtis Peters, who lives near his parent's home.

Funeral on Monday morning at nine o'clock from his late home. Interment in the cemetery at Biglerville.

NEW CASHIER

William H. Snyder, of Sinsheim, has been elected by the directors of the Seven Valley Bank to the cashiership of that institution, to replace B. M. Sheibley, who recently tendered his resignation. Mr. Snyder is at present teller at the Codorus National Bank, Jefferson. He will go to Seven Valley on Monday next to begin his new duties. Mr. Sheibley has accepted a position in New York State.

DROWNS IN STREAM

Besore Legg, Smithsburg, was drowned, Thursday afternoon, while bathing in Clapper's Spring near the old forge, below Edgemont.

Young Legg, with a party of other Smithsburg men, was swimming in Clapper's Spring, which is nine feet deep in some places. All the swimmers left the water but young Legg determined on another plunge. There is an undercurrent of cold spring water in the stream and it is thought that he was caught by this and was seized with cramps.

His mother and his companions saw him go under the water. Unsuccessful efforts were made to save his life. The unfortunate youth was about 17 years of age. His father holds a government position in Washington.

FUNERAL

The funeral services for Mrs. Henry P. Barbehn were held at her late residence on North Stratton street at 11 o'clock this morning. The services were conducted by Rev. J. B. Baker, who took as his text, Isaiah 66:13, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you." Frank Rudisill, Jacob Rudisill, Miss Pauline Rudisill and Miss Mary Rudisill, sang, "Nearer my God to Thee" and "Face to Face." The pall bearers were, Prof. Karl Grimm, W. H. Sharets, Dufield Ridinger, Herman Mertz, Henry Kallheisch and J. A. Lentz. The floral offerings were beautiful including several from the deaconesses of the Mary J. Drexel Home, Philadelphia. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

UNION SERVICES

Following is the schedule of Union services arranged for by the Ministerial Association for the months of July and August:

July 2nd, United Brethren.
July 9th, Methodist Episcopal.
July 16th, College Lutheran.
July 23rd, Reformed.
July 30th, Episcopal.
August 6th, St. James Lutheran.
August 13th, Presbyterian.
August 20th, Methodist Episcopal.
August 27th, United Brethren.
These services have proved very popular in the past, and it is desired that they may be even more largely attended, and increasingly useful.

BUSY DAY AT CURB MARKET

About Forty Stall Holders Offer Large Quantities of Fruit and Vegetables for Sale. Produce quickly Bought.

This morning was a busy one on the curb market and the forty stall holders lined about the four sides of the Square disposed of large quantities of fruit, vegetables and produce.

The demand for butter and eggs at market was specially good. About fifty pounds of country butter were sold at twenty cents a pound. Eggs brought 15 cents a dozen.

The supply of strawberries is rapidly diminishing. Only five bushels were offered for sale at market and they brought from ten to fifteen cents a box. Five and a half bushels of raspberries were brought to market and found ready sale at ten cents a box. The cherry supply is getting less and the thirty six and a half bushels, sold at this morning's market, brought prices ranging from four to nine cents.

There were plenty of chickens offered. Old chickens brought from 12 to 15 cents a pound and young ones from 15 to 20 cents.

The supply of vegetables was good as it has been since the opening of this year's market. One hundred heads of home grown cabbage were soon sold as were practically all the other vegetables at market.

FOR PEAR BLIGHT

Systematic efforts are being made in Adams county to fight the pear blight which is affecting the apple and quince trees and the grape leaf flea beetle which is destroying grape vines.

Ernest F. Pierce, state orchard inspector for York and Adams counties, states that the proper method to pursue for the suppression of the pear blight is to cut it off and burn every leaf, cutting several inches back of the injury. He also says that the tools used in the cuttings should be sterilized to each cut, as should also the exposed surface.

Mr. Pierce further recommends diluted formaline and bichloride of mercury (corrosive sublimate) for the sterilization of the tools. The solution should be .001 per cent. It is the opinion of Inspector Pierce that the present outbreak of the blight is due to weather conditions.

The brown and black slugs on the underside of grape leaves are probably the larvae of the grape leaf flea beetle, according to Mr. Pierce. He says it may be treated with arsenate of lead so as to strike the underside of the leaf. This is essential, he says, as it may limit the crop of adult beetles which attack the growing shoots in the following spring.

DANGEROUS SNAKE

Running in terror into the Spring Grove paper mill, several small boys who had been playing about the yard announced that they had come upon an enormous "snake" under a woodpile in the corner. A party was hurriedly made up, and after a few charges of shot had been fired into the dark corner where the "reptile" could be plainly seen coiled ready for business a closer investigation was made. It was then discovered that the supposed snake was a coil of disused and forgotten fire hose.

WEEK'S CAMPAIGN FOR CHAUTAUQUA

One Week to be Devoted to Canvassing Campaign. If Successful Definite Announcement of Chautauqua will immediately Follow.

The canvass for tickets for the Gettysburg Chautauqua has gone along steadily the past week and starting Monday the management will commence a specially aggressive campaign which, by the end of the week, is expected to show sufficient returns to guarantee the event for the ten day period—August 18 to 27.

Several changes have been made in the corps of canvassers and it is now composed of the following, Mrs. Salome Stewart, Gettysburg, M. E. Smith, Arendtsville and vicinity; Prof. L. D. Crunkleton, Littlestown and vicinity; D. A. Lawver, Biglerville and vicinity; Oscar Howe, York Springs; C. A. Stock, Mount Joy township. One or two others will be added to this list.

The plan for next week's campaign provides for a daily report of the number of sales which will appear in these columns. Arrangements have been made to hear regularly from every canvasser of the result of his work of the preceding day and by the end of the week it is confidently expected that enough course tickets will have been sold to warrant the signing of the lecturers and entertainers for the first Gettysburg chautauqua.

The canvassers are selling course tickets only but these are sold with the privilege of exchange for single entertainment tickets before the opening of the chautauqua period.

Those who are interested in the ultimate success of the project will watch eagerly for the daily reports of the sales.

WILL FIX ROADS QUICKLY

The Harrisburg Telegraph says, concerning the plan of State Highway Commissioner Bigelow to put into shape a road between that city and Gettysburg, mention of which has been made in The Times:

"The battlefield town is visited by hundreds of automobile parties and the annual rush is now on but there are so many complaints about the condition of the roads connecting Gettysburg with this city, which is a point of interest because of the State Capitol and owing to the numerous roads centering here, that Commissioner Bigelow wants to get a route put into fine form as soon as possible.

"All of the roads in the system under the Sproul bill are to be taken over before June 1 of next year except turnpikes and toll roads about which the commissioner can use his pleasure. The taking over is a very simple proposition, the commissioner being only required to give notice to the county and district authorities. However, when taken over, whether immediately rebuilt or not the state must maintain the roads."

TAKES SLIDE FOR LIFE

A valuable Berkshire bull belonging to William L. Glatfelter, broke through the fence of the barnyard at Old Forge farm, near Spring Grove, on Wednesday, and climbed a 30 foot flight of stairs leading to the second floor of the barn. While the employees were trying to stop it, the bull got to the door of the silo and slid down an incline to the ground, escaping without any injury. The animal which is worth several hundred dollars, was then captured and tied.

ARAB REBELS SLAY 1000 TURKISH TROOPS

Column is Surprised and Cut to Pieces.

Hodeidah, Arabia, June 17, via Aden, June 24.—Rebels in great force surprised and cut up a Turkish column commanded by Mahomed Ali Pasha, outside Gheesan, a town on the Red sea, about 100 miles north of Hodeidah. A thousand Turkish soldiers were killed. Mahomed Ali himself is missing.

The fighting was so desperate and at such close quarters that 500 Turkish fugitives are suffering from serious dagger wounds. The survivors fled in disorder to Gheesan, pursued by the rebels.

The Turkish gunboat Sutebbe, in tending to shell the Arabs, shelled Gheesan instead, killing or wounding several hundred of the soldiers.

The rebels captured four big guns, two Maxim, 2000 rifles and a quantity of ammunition and ultimately retook Gheesan. A seaport of the Turkish vilayet of Yemen, in southwestern Arabia, Yemen is a mountainous district where people are engaged chiefly in stock raising and who are almost continuously in revolt against Turkish authority.

FOUND DEAD IN CISTERN

Farmer's Body Badly Mutilated and Wife Is Arrested.

Fowler, Ind., June 24.—Peter Larson, a retired and wealthy farmer, was found dead in a cistern in the rear of his home, and Mrs. Larson is under arrest pending an investigation.

The top of Larson's head had been chopped off with an axe, there were several cuts and gashes on the skull and it was crushed in other places. The testimony taken by the coroner is conflicting, but appearances indicate that Larson was injured in the stable and either was dragged or dragged himself to the cistern.

Larson and his wife had been quarreling all night. In the morning Mrs. Larson went to a neighbor and said her husband had left the house and she didn't know where to find him. The neighbor went to the Larson house, and in the barn found a pool of blood and a bloody axe lying on the ground. The stalls and walls of the barn were splattered with blood.

Washington, June 24.—Instructions for the August target practice of the Atlantic fleet issued by Lieutenant Commander Palmer, director of target practice, call for the use of aeroplane models suspended from small balloons or kites.

Each ship must construct her own elevating carriages for the three-inch guns which will be trained upon the air craft.

Suicide Had $10,000 In Cash.

Cleveland, June 24.—With more than $10,000 in currency on his person, a man identified by papers in his pocket as Emil Hirsch, thirty years old, of Chicago, was found dead in his room here. A tumbler containing chloral and two peppermint tablets was found on a stand beside his bed. Deputy Coroner Dreege believes it a case of suicide.

LUMBERMEN ARE INDICTED

Charged With Violating the Anti-Trust Law.

FOURTEEN ARE ACCUSED

Secretaries of Retail Associations Accused of Conspiracy in Controlling
Price of Lumber.

Chicago, June 24.—Secretaries of fourteen retail lumber dealers' associations, comprising the Lumber Secretaries' Bureau of Information, and representing dealers' organizations from Pennsylvania to the Pacific, were indicted by a special United States grand jury for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Three secretaries in the organization received immunity for testifying before the grand jury.

Each indictment is in two counts. The first charges conspiracy among the retail lumber dealers to interfere with and restrain trade between the manufacturers and wholesalers and the consumers; the second count charges conspiracy to suppress and eliminate the competition that should exist between the wholesalers and the retailers and the consumers.

Those indicted were:

Arthur L. Holmes, Detroit, secretary Michigan Lumber Dealers' association and editor of a trade paper, The Scout.

George P. Sweet, secretary of the Michigan association.

Willard G. Hollis, Minneapolis, secretary of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association.

Harry A. Gorsuch, Kansas City, secretary of the Southwestern Lumbermen's association.

Bert Critchfield, Lincoln, Neb., secretary of the Nebraska Dealers' association.

E. E. Hall, secretary of the Nebraska association.

Harry S. Seacare, Mooresville, Ind., secretary of the Indiana Lumber Dealers' association.

H. H. Hemenway, Denver, Colo., secretary of the Colorado and Wyoming association.

Louis J. Heilmann, also secretary of the Colorado and Wyoming association.

H. S. Adams, Chillicothe, Ohio, secretary of the Union Association of Lumber Dealers and of the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers.

B. N. Hayward, Columbus, O., also secretary of the Ohio association.

A. L. Porter, Spokane, Wash., secretary of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association.

R. P. Bransford, Union City, Tenn., secretary of the Retail Lumber Dealers' association.

A. C. Rightor, Pittsburg, Pa., Lumber Dealers' Association of Pennsylvania.

The three who received immunity for testifying were:

Paul Lachmund, Milwaukee, secretary Wisconsin association.

George W. Hotchkiss, Chicago, secretary Illinois Lumber and Builders Supply Dealers' association and secretary of the Secretaries' Bureau.

George Wilson Jones, secretary of the Illinois association.

The Lumber Secretaries' Bureau of Information, it was learned by the grand jury, was incorporated in Illinois in 1905. Its membership was confined to secretaries of retail lumber dealers' associations in all parts of the country.

The aim of the alleged conspiracy according to the indictments, was to maintain prices or to prevent competition between the retail dealers, but to put a complete stop to the direct sale of lumber by wholesalers to consumers.

Violation of the Sherman act was found not in any trust of capital, or anything approaching a trust as the term has been applied in recent litigation. Instead, according to the government, it was a so-called "trust of power" alleged to have been manifested in the secretaries of the retailers' organizations. This power, it is charged, was exercised by means of an alleged blacklist, said to have been maintained by the secretaries' bureau. This alleged blacklist, the government charges, contained the names of such wholesalers and manufacturers as violated the retailers' rule forbidding the direct sale to the consumer.

SEEK LIBERTY FOR MORSE

Banker's Lawyers Announce They Will Begin Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Atlanta, Ga., June 24.—Habeas corpus proceedings, looking to the release of Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, from the federal penitentiary here, will be begun in the United States court.

This was announced by Morse's attorneys. Morse was convicted of violating the national banking laws. President Taft recently refused to pardon Morse or commute his sentence.

Arizona Willing to Give Up Recall.

Washington, June 24.—Delegate Cameron, of Arizona, requested the senate committee on territories to amend the Arizona constitution by eliminating the provision for the recall of judges. He based his request on the opposition of the president to this feature and said he feared its retention would defeat statehood.

HARRY P. WHITNEY'S WIFE CAUSE OF FIGHT

Man Who Annoyed Her Thrashed
by Artist.

New York, June 24.—Residents of MacDougal alley, that community of wealthy amateurs and not-so-wealthy professional painters, sculptors, and literateurs, were on the watch for the return of a young man, who, by reason of his unwelcome attention to Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, one of the studio owners, was soundly thrashed and driven beyond the artistic precincts by a young painter named Thrasher.

Mr. Thrasher said that he had gone to New Haven when he was asked for a description of the battle. The description was eventually furnished by George DeForrest Brush, an eminent American portraitist. Mr. Brush explained that Mr. Thrasher had acted in a spirit of chivalry and to drive out of the alley a person who was considered obnoxious by most of the members of the artist community.

Mr. Brush would not acknowledge that it was Mrs. Whitney who was the innocent cause of the fracas in the alley, but when asked squarely about the matter, would not deny that it was she. He took refuge in the description, "a prominent society woman." Mrs. Whitney perhaps answers better to such a description than any other woman in the alley who maintains a studio there.

Mrs. Whitney said, through a representative, that she did not care to discuss the case in any way.

Mint Employee Crushed by Gold.

San Francisco, June 24.—Literally buried under $9,000,000 in gold, Wadsworth S. Williams, an employee of the San Francisco mint, was so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. The gold, in sacks, toppled over in one of the mint vaults and overwhelmed Williams, who was wheeling a truck.

Three Killed by Heat.

Chicago, June 24.—Three persons died and a score were prostrated here as a result of hot weather. The government thermometer registered a fraction under 95 degrees at noon, but the suffering was due in the main to excessive humidity.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

SAVE YOUR HAIR; SAGE TEA WILL DO IT

Dandruff, Itching Scalp and Falling Hair Quickly Stopped.

There is one place where baldheaded men shine, and that is in the front row seats of the theatre. If these baldheaded people had used Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy in their earlier days they would not be so conspicuous now. This preparation does not plant new hair, but it does strengthen weak, dying hair, and not only brightens dull, parched hair, but gradually restores the color to faded or gray hair. It is a clean, wholesome hair dressing, which can be used daily with perfect safety.

Wreth's Sage and Sulphur is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. For Sale by the People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

ROYALTY PARADES IN LONDON

Ovation For George V and Queen in the Streets.

VISITS THE POOR SECTION

Received an Enthusiastic Demonstration When They Appeared on Balcony at Buckingham Palace.

London, June 24.—King George and Queen Mary, as the duly anointed and crowned sovereigns, made their first extended appearance before their subjects in a triumphal procession through the principal and most historic precincts of London.

Their way was along a seven-mile route, which was gorgeously decorated and bulwarked with crowded observation stands and lined from the curbs to the buildings with a throng estimated at 2,000,000.

As an evidence of the cordiality of the king's reception thousands were still assembled around Buckingham palace following his majesty's return and continued their frantic cheering after the royal couple had withdrawn from view.

On their arrival at the palace the insistent demands of the crowds outside compelled the king and queen to appear on the balcony overlooking the courtyard. Then ensued a scene of the greatest enthusiasm that has thus far attended the coronation festivities.

Royalty Wildly Cheered.

The immense assemblage cheered until the din was deafening, and the excitement and enthusiasm were intensified when the troops joined in by waving their hats and gloves and holding their helmets aloft on their bayonets. The scene was the most spontaneous and hearty of any during the day.

Their majesties remained on the balcony for five minutes. The queen withdrew first, but King George remained a short time until the bands by playing the national anthem had quieted the demonstration to some extent. Then his majesty bowed and departed.

The members of the royal family and other distinguished participants in the procession rode in open carriages this time, much to the general satisfaction. It was quite as much a military spectacle as a parade of royalty. The smartest troops from the overseas dominions, as well as the home soldiers, marched in a mile and a half procession. Canada's famous mounted police, Indian troops, veterans of South Africa, Rhodesians, Scots and Irish all shared in the acclaim which London's masses always extend to the soldiers.

The various sections were so marshalled that all was in readiness for the king and queen to enter their gold coach from Buckingham palace.

Between lines of cheering thousands the royal party made stately progress from Buckingham palace by way of Constitution Hill, Piccadilly, Trafalgar square, through the city, over London bridge, by Borough road and Westminster bridge, thus making a complete circuit.

The route took their majesties across the Thames into the district of humble homes at the South End. The reception there was such as to make the king's face glow happily.

King Bows to Hammonds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Princess Louise, the Duke of Argyll and suite, Princess Louise of Battenberg and suite, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, the members of the American embassy staff and their wives and several officers of the United States battleship Delaware saw the royal procession from Stratton house, where the Hammonds are staying.

Princess Louise told King George at what place she would be, and the king and queen while passing recognized the group and bowed to her and the Hammonds. Among the others at Stratton house were Lady Lister-Kays and Rear Admiral and Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Colonel and Mrs. Alhais, Mrs. Bacon, Bartlett, Burdett-Counts, owner of Stratton house; Mr. and Mrs. Lindon Bates, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Miss Carnegie, Mrs. Crocker, Lady Decies, who by the way was not very well; the United States consul, John L. Griffiths; Sir John and Lady Harrington, Sir Robert and Lady Hatfield, Miss Wickensham, a sister of Lady Hatfield; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Toynard, the Hon. Warden Vreeland, Mrs. Ronalds, Admiral Kinsaws, Judge Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, Frederick Townsend Martin, Talbot Rogers, Joseph Stickney and Robert Sands.

TAFT FOR LOWER TARIFF

Declares That the "Time For a Chinese Wall is Gone."

Providence, R. I., June 24.—President Taft told an audience in Providence with regard to the tariff and reciprocity that "the time for the Chinese wall is gone."

The president followed his trend of thought first expressed at Springfield, Ill., in January last, when he sounded a retreat from the Payne-Aldrich tariff, but he went further and in plainer terms.

"We must recognize," said the president, "that the time for the Chinese wall is gone. Before an industry receives protection now it must demonstrate the need of that protection and it must not ask for more protection than it needs."

Going from his views upon tariff generally he considered the need of a tariff with regard to Canada. He cited the industries in the east as the farms of the west, and concluded: "I do not think any industry needs protection against Canada. My heart is full of reciprocity and I wanted to talk."

GOT $600,000 BONUS IN SUGAR MERGER

Mormon Tells How Westerners Were Brought Into Line.

Washington, June 24.—Thomas R. Cutler, a former Mormon bishop and prominent in that church, resumed his testimony before the house committee investigating the sugar trust.

Mr. Cutler appears in the role of an advance man for Joseph H. Smith, president of the Mormon church, who will testify before the committee on Monday.

Mr. Cutler continued his narrative of how Henry O. Havemeyer and the American Sugar Refining company ten years ago obtained practically a half interest in the Utah-Idaho Beet Sugar company, a Mormon concern.

The witness, who is vice president and a director in the company, said that it was through him that Havemeyer negotiated for his holdings in the sugar concerns controlled by the Mormon church. In amalgamating the various companies that went into the large combine he said that it was necessary to give the western Idaho and the Fremont county company stockholders a bonus on their holdings. This amounted to $600,000 in the $10,000,000 capitalization. He acknowledged that the Mormon church probably owned 20 per cent of the stock in the Utah-Idaho company.

"Does the church not own other property also?" asked Representative Garrett. "Yes; it has holdings in other concerns," answered the witness.

Cutler said that the church was not incorporated, but that Smith acted as trustee and that the dividends from the investments were turned into the church treasury.

FRENCH MINISTRY TO QUIT

Premier Monis and Colleagues Will Resign Monday.

Paris, June 24.—The difficulty of running the ministry from the sick room has proved too much for Premier Monis, who, thanks to General Goltz's awkwardness in the speech in which he made his debut as minister of war on Tuesday last, has felt compelled to resign on Monday next after the return of President Fallieres.

Fortune seems not to have favored France's recent ministers of war. Brun died suddenly, Berteaux was killed by a monoplane and Goltz wrecks the entire ministry on the very day that his wife moves the household furniture into the official residence.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 24.—Joseph A. Carter, smallest adult in Tennessee, is dead at his home in Jefferson county, aged seventy-three. He was forty-two inches high and weighed fifty-eight pounds. He was registrar of his county for eighteen years.

WAY IS CLEARED FOR RECIPROCITY

Agreement Seems Sure of Passing Without Change.

KILL ROOT AMENDMENT

Senate Decides to Vote on Monday on This Feature of the Canadian Pact.

Washington, June 24.—The senate decided to vote on the Root amendment to the reciprocity bill before adjournment on Monday. The amendment will be defeated. The motion for a vote at the time mentioned was made by Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee.

Reciprocity will now be put through without amendment by the votes of the Democratic senators. Even if other tariff revision amendments are offered they will be voted down, and revision of the various existing schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law will be taken up later as independent propositions.

President Taft has been assured that the agreement will be passed without any amendment. The information has been conveyed to him by Senator Crane, of Massachusetts.

The message conveyed is of the utmost significance. It means that Crane has canvassed the senate situation sufficiently to ascertain that the Democrats of that body are going to back their coalition with the insurgents. The Democrats, with a few exceptions, will refuse consent to the insurgent Republican plan of loading the reciprocity bill with amendments that amount to general tariff revision.

The assurance that Senator Crane has carried to the president is borne out by statements of Democratic senators. They have caught their breath again and have found out where they are. Unless driven otherwise by developments they do not expect they will vote against the amendments to reciprocity proposed by the insurgents.

The course of the tariff matter in the senate, as it appears, will be this: The insurgents will make a great fight to put through the senate a comprehensive bill embodying reciprocity and general tariff revision. They will be beaten by combined votes of Democrats and regulars. Then will come the question of what to do about the free list bill, the wool bill, the cotton bill and other measures sent over from the house.

The indications are that any such bills will pass the senate by the votes of insurgents and Democrats; but if the insurgents have their way, such bills will be disposed of before reciprocity is acted upon. Some of the Democrats also want prior action on these bills. A senate Democratic caucus is expected soon, and this may serve to clear up a much-mixed situation. Nothing has occurred to change the situation as to the outlook for a protracted session.

Close friends of the president insist that he will veto all tariff bills except reciprocity. Chairman Penrose, of the finance committee, said of the insurgent-Democratic coalition: "It is a rope of sand, and it will not hold. The performance of the insurgents and Democrats on Wednesday was effective for the time, but the differences between the two elements are so radical that the combination will not continue."

Senator Norris Brown, of Nebraska, one of the prominent insurgents, said: "Reciprocity will pass unamended, and after that the senate will give its attention to a general revision of the tariff, not only wool, but steel, cotton, sugar and other big schedules. Termination of debate on reciprocity depends largely on how fully Cummins and LaFollette decide to record their antagonism. So soon as they conclude their speeches and realize the bill will pass anyhow, it will be easy to fix a date for the final vote."

"DRY" STATES HAD A THIRST

20,000,000 Gallons Shipped Annually Direct to Consumers.

Washington, June 24.—Approximately 20,000,000 gallons of liquors annually are shipped by express, directly from mail order houses, direct to consumers in prohibition states.

This fact was developed in an inquiry conducted by the interstate commerce commission into proposed changes in express classifications, which resulted in an advance of rates on packages containing liquors.

The commission held that the express requirements that liquor containers should be packed in corrugated paper cartons was reasonable; that that the charge for transportation based upon arbitrary weights—eighteen pounds for a gallon of whisky packed—was unreasonable; and that the discrimination against stone jugs also was unreasonable.

Must Report Fatal Accidents.

Washington, June 24.—Every railway will be required, after July 1, 1911, to report to the interstate commerce commission by telegraph "any collision, derailment or other accident" resulting in the death of one or more persons. The report must be sent immediately after the occurrence of the accident by a responsible officer of the carrier.

WHEN I WAS YOUNG

By F. A. MITCHEL.
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When I was young, having procured an outfit of several camels, which I owned, and a score of blacks, whom I hired, I started southward from Tripoli to do a little exploring of the great desert of Sahara. I certainly couldn't explore much of it, for it is larger in area than the United States and only parts are ordinarily traversed. I chose to make an expedition straight south to the Sudan, along the route of caravan trading with that region. It is an ocean of sand, with billows of land except in spots where there are oases.

On the route we fell in with an Arab wanderer named Mohammed. Not all orientals are named Mohammed. Not a large number are. He said he was a trader, but one of my men said that the way he traded was one-sided. He gave nothing—unless bullets—for something. In other words, he was a robber.

But, like most of these people, he was very smooth spoken. He pretended to take a great fancy to me; said that he had heard that America was the greatest country in the world, and he was quite sure I was the greatest American. To prove his admiration for and confidence in me, he invited me to his camp and introduced me to his wives. There was one young and quite pretty (for an Arab woman among them who, it seemed to me, was especially cordial to me. I could only judge by the looks she gave me, for she did not know my language nor I hers. Salam, my chief man, remarked to me that he had noticed the woman's preference for me. But, having no desire to get myself murdered on account of an Arab's wife, I did not propose to encourage the lady.

Mohammed journeyed beside us for several days, camping when we camped and moving when we moved. Had it not been for Salam I would have considered that the man had conceived a great regard for me, so naturally did we feign it. Salam said that he was familiarizing himself with our strength, our arms and the value of the loot to be acquired in case of a successful attack. Salam also ventured the opinion that the wife who was so favorably disposed toward me was probably in tending, by her husband's order, to lure me into some position by which I could be put out of the way. Then my belongings would easily fall into Mohammed's hands. This view of the case did not favor the conceit of a man of twenty-two, and I did not believe him.

One evening my Bedouin admiral came to my camp to announce the fact that the next morning at dawn he would separate from us, going off to the east toward Marzuk, my intention being to proceed on my way to Ghat. He invited me to sup with him. Being young—as I have said before—I had a fancy to see once more the woman who had apparently conceived a regard for me. I desired to form an opinion as to whether Salam or I was right as to the genuineness of her demonstrations. I supped with her husband, but he kept his wives out of the way. This seemed to me to prove that there was nothing in Salam's theory. The trader feasted me royally and when I left embraced me with tears in his eyes.

"Whoever says," I remarked to Salam when I returned to my camp, "that an Arab is incapable of friendship doesn't know your race."

Salam made no reply, but did not seem especially impressed with my appreciation of the guileless nature of his brother Bedouins.

Two days after this we encamped one evening on the desert. It was a lonely spot, though no more lonely than all other spots on the Sahara. I was standing after dark admiring the bright stars above, contrasting with the monotonous scene below, when I heard the faintest kind of a sound within a few feet of me. It was like a spent bullet hitting soft earth. Turning, I saw an object a few feet from me. Going to it, I found an arrow sticking in the sand. Taking it up, I discovered a bit of wood tied to it. Taking it into my tent, where I had a light, I saw Arabic writing on one side. I called Salam and asked him to interpret it. He read it to himself and looked up at me with fear in his face.

"What is it?" I asked.

"It says, 'Make the fonduk.'"

The fonduk is a caravansary where caravans may get food, water and what is often more desirable, safety.

"From whom did it come?" I asked.

"There is no one near us."

"Mohammed is near. I suspect that he intends to fall upon us tonight. He will probably kill you, then give the rest of us backsheesh to keep silent."

"But who could have sent this warning?"

"I think I have been wrong. The woman who saw you has really been captivated. It is she."

I told Salam to break camp, load the camels, and we would proceed on our journey.

While the preparations were being made I went out again to be alone with the sky and the desert. A new feeling had entered my breast. For the first time in my life I was conscious that a woman loved me. But I knew at the same time that our paths would be as wide apart as those of the great desert.

Before day dawned we made the fonduk.

Help for All

Andrew Carnegie once suggested as an epitaph for his own tombstone what he said was the secret of his success: "Here lies a man who surrounded himself with men abler than himself."

Many able people are working for you, scientists, inventors, manufacturers, all trying to make something you want. Do you use their brains and their efforts—"surround yourself with them"—or do you plod along by yourself, years behind the times?

Take your own home. Have your share of modern improvements there—money-saving, labor-saving, health-promoting? One of the most important of these is a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove. A New Perfection stove never overheats a kitchen. It saves your strength. It saves fuel and time. With the New Perfection oven with the glass doors you can go on with your ironing or any other work, and still be sure at a glance the joint is roasting properly.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turn-out the matched chimneys. Handily faulted throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc. Desires everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of The Atlantic Refining Company (Incorporated).

RUNK & PECKMAN'S REALTY REPORT

Why do you continue to work hard and pay rent when you have such a grand opportunity to own a home such as we have to offer you in small and large farms in Adams, Franklin and Cumberland counties? We can imagine your feelings when you contemplate moving because your landlord wants to rent to some other person. The hard work you have done to repair fences, buildings, haul lime and do many other things considered "thank you jobs" is soon forgotten when your landlord decides to rent your place to another. Buy yourself a home and pay for it with the profits you have been making for your landlord. You will be living a new life when you and your family realize that you are working for yourselves and are not notified to move any more. Try it and see how happy you can be. MAINTAINING A GOOD ROAD.

Organized and Systematized Work Necessary.

SUPERVISION MAIN THING.

Without That the Road is Liable to Be Built Wrong or Unscrupulous Contractors, Taking Advantage of This Inefficiency, Cheat the County—Ruts Must Be Filled Up.

It requires three things to make a great country—the right kind of people, productive lands and means of communication and transportation, says Curtis Hill, state highway engineer of Missouri. Fix your attention upon the road question from the standpoint of communication and transportation, with the highway as an important part of the transportation system.

Draw a mind sketch in which imagine yourself making a large map of your state. On this map draw lines representing the railroads and mark the tonnage of freight carried by them. Then draw a second set of different colored lines representing the waterways and mark the tonnage of freight carried by them. In still another color make a third set of lines to represent the public wagon roads and mark thereon the tonnage of freight moved over them. Note the comparison in tonnage transported and you will see that the proportion moved over the highways originating in the state exceeds either of the others.

This map will also show that, while the railroads and waterways touch upon some farms and communities, the highways reach them all. Then is not the highway an important factor in the system of transportation, as important as the railway or waterway? It requires them all—highway, waterway and railway—to make up the complete system of transportation, and the very basis of this transportation system is the highway.

If we assume that road building is to make use of natural materials in such a manner as to produce the improved road and that the roads should be built to meet the needs and the demands of travel coming upon them it follows that all the roads should not be rocky, gravelled or oiled, neither should all be of earth. Many of the states have such a diversity of road-making material that no one method or plan of construction is adaptable in all parts of a state, and plans must frequently be varied over one county.

In one section rock construction is best, in another gravel and in still others sand-clay or chert. A special feature in some counties is the well dragged earth road, while in others concrete or masonry in culverts or bridges may be pre-eminent. It is necessary for the highway engineer to study the field and choose the methods, plans and materials adaptable to the locality.

Organized, systematized work prevents waste. Well organized, systematic work is impossible without competent and trained supervision. Trained supervision is the correct principle with which to carry on any business. "Regular" might be substituted for "trained," because if a road official is found to be suited for the work and is retained regularly at his work he becomes a "trained or skilled" road man.

A capable man in such an office will see that the work is done right, protect the county against unscrupulous contractors, open the road drains and prevent the roads from being used for artificial farm drains.

After they are built good roads must be taken care of. One great defect in our road work is the lack of maintenance—more correctly, the lack of a proper system for maintenance. Traffic and the elements are continually tearing the roads down, and we must be continually building them up.

Any kind of road gradually wears out, and this loss must be replaced or the road will gradually go down. The old adage is true that "a stitch in time saves nine."

GOOD ROADS EPIDEMIC CONTAGIOUS.

Making good roads is becoming contagious, and the beneficent epidemic is spreading all over the country. The south has caught the fever, and in many localities elaborate systems of improved highways are contemplated, under way or have been completed. A good road is an effective object lesson.

HUMANE HORSE COLLARS.

A man who works a sweat pad on his horse ought to have one on his own neck. It is cumbersome, hot, filthy and it breeds sores. The up to date man has long ago discarded the cotton pad and uses a leather collar—smooth, no lumps, no knots, no sweat cloths—that is, if he cleans it and oils it often enough.

The Scrap Book

Just What He Wanted. A young minister settled over a small country parish was instructed by his parishioners to procure a piano for their use. He did so, telling the dealer to charge the bill for rental to the secretary of the parish. When the bill amounted to $25, the society being unable to pay it as well as the salary of the pastor, the music dealer dunned the minister for the money, telling him that he assumed the responsibility. The latter replied that he never assumed the responsibility of another, having all he could do to pay his own bills, whereupon the dealer threatened to sue him.

A short time after our friend received a letter from a New York collection agency, to which as well as several following he paid no attention until the following short but definite letter came:

Dear Sir—Unless you remit at once we shall publish you all over the country as a delinquent debtor.

To which he replied: Gentlemen—Ever since I entered the ministry I have been struggling for the title of D. D. Go ahead.

AN ENGLISH ORGANIZATION.

In One Year 19,500 Did a Co-operative Business of $4,300,000.

In England the farmers have an agricultural organization or association which has been very successful. At the end of 1909 there were 321 societies in the organization, with 19,500 members. Both buying and selling were done, and during the year there was a total business of about $4,300,000. There were also 108 other societies outside of the large organization. These organizations insure property, buy seeds, fertilizers, grain and machinery and sell all sorts of farm produce. There are fifteen "egg and poultry societies." They sold over $65,000 worth of their produce, and eighteen dairy societies sold $300,000 worth. Most of this was evidently handled by parcels post. The English government, through the board of agriculture, gives financial aid to the society because it helps to organize farmers, and this helps consumers by enabling them to get closer to producers.

It would be impossible for these English societies to do this great business if they were held up, as our farmers are, by express extortion and middlemen, remarks the Rural New Yorker. It appears that co-operative buying and selling are the salvation of the English farmer.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mrs. Eliza Essick.

We miss thee from thy place, dear mother,
We miss thee from thy place.
A shadow over our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hands,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.

Dearest mother, we must lay thee,
In thy peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished,
Till we see thy heavenly face.
Farewell, farewell my mother dear,
Life is sad without you here,
Oh may we meet in heaven above
Where all is peace and joy and love.

By her children.

HEALTH ON THE FARM.

Four Generations of One Family Work Together in Field.

That health and long life are found on the farm has long been known. Life in the open air, with sound sleep and wholesome food, means health, and a busy body means a contented mind and little wear and tear on nerves.

The accompanying picture shows four generations of one family at work

FOUR GENERATIONS AT WORK.

In a field on a Long Island farm. All are sturdy and happy. It is seldom indeed that four generations will be found engaged in a gainful occupation in a city.

Unwearied Life.

Why should we ever weary of this life? Our souls should widen ever, not contract;

Grow stronger and not harder in the strife.
Filling each moment with a noble act.
If we live thus, of vigor all compact,
Doing our duty to our fellow men
And striving rather to exalt our race
Than our poor selves with earnest hand or pen.

We shall erect our names a dwelling place
Which not all ages shall cast down again.
Offspring of time shall then be born each hour,
Which, as of old, earth lovingly shall guard
To live forever in youth's perfect flower
And guide her future children heavenward.

—James Russell Lowell.

Country School Spoils Good Farmers.

Vocational training is enlisting as never before the interest and effort of business men and educators in several western states. For two years certain bankers in Minnesota have promoted it very actively, their commercial interest in farm properties and people leading them to do so. They have found that of 435,000 school children, educated at a cost of $14,000,000 annually, fewer than 1,800 attend agricultural schools. In a state which has only one-third of the tillable land within its 84,000 square miles under cultivation over 80 per cent of the children are being trained to be consumers and only four-tenths of 1 per cent to be producers. The present school system, even in the country, was thus found to be educating children away from the farms, "spoiling good farmers and not making good city men."

The bankers offered prizes for the best answer to the question, Why am I going to leave the farm? The boy who won first prize laid stress on the fact that "most of the 'schoolmarm's' are town girls or girls from town schools and don't like country life. Their attitude helps to sow dissatisfaction among the pupils."—Survey.

The Food That Plants Want.

There are ten essential elements of plant food. Five of these are provided by nature in abundance—viz carbon and oxygen, secured by the growing plant directly from the air hydrogen from water absorbed by the earth, iron and sulphur supplied by the soil.

The remaining five elements are nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, magnesium and calcium. The supply and liberation of these five constitute the foundation of permanent agriculture on all cultivatable soils in humid sections. Nitrogen exists in the air in absolutely inexhaustible amount, and for general farming can be secured from the air most economically by the growing of legume crops.

If these crops are plowed under, nitrogen is thus increased and additional organic matter supplied, which as it decays in the soil, helps to liberate or make available the other four important elements.

Let Wife Have Own Money.

It is a deplorable fact that many a wife has to beg her husband for money after she has helped to make it. To have to ask for money, even when it is given willingly, is a disagreeable thing. Did you ever hear the story of the committee of women who pledged themselves to contribute $1 each to a worthy cause? The dollar was to be earned by hard work. The night of the collection some funny stories were told about how the money had been earned. "How did you earn your dollar?" the chairman asked a handsome woman. "I got it from my husband," was the reply. "There was no hard work about that," some one said. The woman smiled and answered, "You don't know my husband."

Keeping Rate From Chicks.

In one night rats will destroy enough chicks to pay for many a rod of first class fine meshed wire.
